

Drug Review Process

To prepare summaries for the First Exposure website, we validated information from Sickkids Hospital and developed a meticulous process that includes a standardized literature search, summary of the relevant papers, and knowledge translation which are performed by the Medical Librarian, Clinical Content Advisors and trainees.

The information is then reviewed by the Scientific Director and a team of Subject Matter Experts with final approval by the Medical Content Director. Following approval, the information is made available on the First Exposure website, for the public and health care providers.
